Talking It Over

With Chase McClure

"Altho I am not given to looking at the dark side of things," said Cousin Arlander as he stabbed his fifth slice of bacon with his fork, "I do not believe that the majority of people around and about have enough appreciation for the things which our great president has done for us."

Uncle Ephraim swallowed his mouthful of biscuit and stirred his molasses vigorously. "Go on, Arlander. The more you talk the less you eat."

"Well," continued Cousin Arlander, "it seems that the more you do for some fellows, the more they want you to do. Now I was talkin' to Tilden Moots and he said the gov'ment had sent him twenty pounds of smoked meat and ten pounds of butter this month, but Tilden was sort of mad because the cheese had never come in. Besides, he said that in the good old days of prosperity he had been used to a good after-supper cigar and that he thought as long as the gov'ment is keepin' him in flour and meat and butter and such, they ought to finish off the meal with a real good Havana cigar! He said that Vice President Marshall once summed it all up very nicely when he said that what America needs is a good five cent cigar, and Tilden agrees with him. Tilden has got it figured out that if the gov'ment would send a box of cigars to every needy man in the country, there would be such a demand for tobacco that the price would go sky-high and help the farmers out."

"I am somewhat surprised that Tilden stopped grumblin' long enough to figure out that plan," said Uncle Eph as he deftly speared another biscuit. "But if the gov'ment should send him a cigar, Tilden would not be satisfied because they would probably forget to include a box of matches in the shipment."

"I was busy in the store yesterday," said Aunt Samantha, feeling that it was time for her turn, "and I delivered to Leslie Moon the five pounds of butter which the gov'ment had sent to him. Well sir, I forgot all about it for awhile and the first thing I knew Leslie had opened up a loaf of bread and was spreading the butter on it along with a little sugar which he had fished out of the sugar barrel and was making the crumbs fly. When he had finished he told me to charge it to his rich uncle. I said 'Who is your rich uncle?' 'Uncle Sam' was all he would say as he went out the door."

"It's kind of workin' a hardship on the merchants," said Uncle Ephraim. "I worked hard all day in the store Saturday handin' out free goods and when the end of the day came there was only nineteen cents in the cash drawer and that was for a box of Black Draught."

Cousin Arlander swallowed the last of his fifth cup of coffee and began again. "Alonzo Snell told me yesterday that seein' as how the gov'ment was so good about keepin' him in entables he figured there wasn't much use of tryin' to work himself to death on the farm so he is studyin' about movin' in to town. He said he knew where he could rent a good house with relief situated close to a good pool hall and which he can rent with relief orders and he says he likes the atmosphere of town. He thinks it would be nice if the gov'ment would see its way clear to givin' everybody a free ticket to a good movin' picture show on Saturday nights."

"I do not think you fellows have been hardly fair talkin' about this relief in such a discouragin' way," said Uncle Eph as he helped himself to a toothpick. "You have picked a few shabs out of the crowd and tried to paint a dark picture with them. Why, there are lots of fellers workin' their thumbs tryin' to make a livin' and this gov'ment help only makes them work the harder. In fact, upon investigation, I find that there are some very nice people around and about who do not have a bank account."

"Well," said Cousin Arlander, wiping the gravy off his vest, "at least it has given the people something to talk about besides their neighbors. And so while a feller is in a big way talkin' he forgets to study about hard times and so it really is a very good thing."

ROBBING COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Figures taken from the Kentucky Educational Report for the school year of 1931 and 1932 are conclusive evidence that the country school teachers are suffering in a reduced per capita for the number of children in each school district on account of the large amount of school money which is being spent for the state normals and Kentucky university. In the school year of 1931-32 32.6 percent of the state's expenditures for public education went to the seven institutions of higher learning. This is nearly one third of all the money collected ostensibly to promote public schools being spent on these seven institutions. It represents $3,176,559 of the $9,761,745 spent by the state for public education. With the school per capita reduced from $9 to $8, it does seem that the country school teacher is being discriminated against in salary in favor of the institutions of such high learning. The News wants to be thoroughly understood that it is not opposed to these institutions, but that it is more in favor of the public schools, as the great majority of the children of the state only receive a public school education. They are the wards of the state and should be given the first consideration. When the cut has to come, because of decreased revenue from decreased assessments, it should not fall upon the common school teacher but should fall on the higher education. We are sorry that it has to see any cut in the educational program of Kentucky, but where there is a choice as to whether the cut should fall heavier on the common schools and the normals, we would protect the common schools first, for the taxes are levied primarily for the purpose of supporting these schools.—Elizabethtown News.

CORN-HOG CONTRACTS

Any farmers interested in signing reduction contracts for corn and hogs must do so by March 10th.

There are not many eligible hog and corn producers in Morgan but several farmers would profit personally by signing contracts. If you are interested in knowing the facts about your case please see M. E. Vaughn in the courthouse at West Liberty.

If you grew an average of ten acres of corn for the years of 1932 and 1933 you are eligible to sign the corn contract.

If you sold an average of two hogs of pigs for each of 1932 and 1933 you are eligible to sign the hog reduction contract.

If you sign the corn reduction contract you must reduce your crop in 1934 at least 20 percent from the average of 1932 and 1933. You will receive 30 cents a bushel for all the corn you cut out under your contract.

If you sign the hog division of the contract you must reduce the number of brood sows on your farm at least 25 percent from the average of 1932 and 1933. You will receive 85 cents for the three fourths pigs you keep and still retain the pigs to sell as you please.

It is worth your investigation but you must hurry.

Sincerely yours,

M. E. VAUGHN, special agent.

MARINES WANT 30 GRADUATES
Macon, Ga., Feb. 24.—Lieut. Col. J. W. Stone, officer in charge of the U. S. Marine Corps district recruiting headquarters, located in the municipal auditorium, today received authority to accept thirty men during March.

Applicants must be high school graduates between 18 and 25 years of age, and not less than 5 feet 6 inches in height, and should first communicate with district headquarters at Macon, Ga., and be prepared to present their high school diploma or certificate on the regular printed form, signed by the principal, giving date of graduation; together with parents' consent if under 21 years of age, and two letters of reference from prominent citizens of their community.

Progressing Backward

We regret to learn that the bill to require all nominations for state offices to be filed by primary elections has been defeated. This means that future nominations will be handpicked by bad men who shamefully dominate things politically. Winning the World war has not made the world a safe place for democracy which was said to be the object of winning the conflict. On the other hand Kentucky has retreated from Democracy. At the time of the war nominations by primary were required by law. This law was repealed a few years ago.—Clay City Times.

On the Home Stretch

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27.—The 1934 general assembly, under the devious direction of Gov. Ruby Laffoon, seems certain to make a mess of the session. Only 15 legislative days remain before adjournment, and most of the important bills—excluding that politically conceived instrument with the pretentious title of Administration Reorganization Act—remain to be considered by one house or the other, or both.

The all-important appropriations measure, indeed, has not even been introduced, altho the law requires that it be submitted by the third Monday of the session. When and in what form it will be tendered are matters of doubt apparently to everyone and certainly to all except a few who are privy to the designs of the administration.

The general assumption is that the framers of the budget are awaiting legislation on revenue. Naturally, they can't very well apportion an amount wholly indefinite.

But rumors of a deep plan are also current. They have it that no budget bill will be submitted at this session, in event which the appropriations for the closing biennium would remain in force—but with an important difference. The house has passed and the senate will pass the measure reducing the tax on farm lands from 30 cents to one. Now if no funds are provided to make up for the approximately two million dollars thus cut off and if no budget appropriations are made to the agencies which benefit from the land tax, the public schools and the institutions of higher learning, which depend almost entirely on this tax for their support, will find themselves unable to continue once the reduction goes into effect.

DANGEROUS PLAYING

Walter C., the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Blevins on Prestonburg street, was badly burned at about six o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Blevins was in the kitchen. The child was in the living room with his father. A fire had been started in the grate in the front bedroom. The child went across the hall to this room and pulled open a drawer, finding a can with a pound of gunpowder. Evidently it did not meet with his approval as a plaything, and he chucked it into the fire.

Mr. Blevins and Mr. Patrick ran to find out what the unusual noise was all about and met little Walter in the hall, his clothes ablaze.

The doctor found the child's hand and one side badly burned, but not otherwise injured. He is receiving the best of care and all concerned, we are glad to report, expect to soon see the little fellow playing about as usual, but he will probably not go romping in his big brother's chiffronier.

Upon investigation, it was found that one window casing had been dislodged by the explosion, three window lights were broken, and some chairs were twisted out of shape. The wall paper was on fire, but was soon extinguished.

As a consequence, according again to the rumor, a public cry will go up for a special session, and Gov. Laffoon, having called it, will again propose the sales tax, in the expectation of increased support as a result of the anxieties of the people and the extremities of the situation.

All the items of this reported plan check nicely as political strategy save for one. That one is that the citizens of Kentucky could hardly be expected to be patient or sympathetic with an administration which required three sessions to put its fiscal affairs in order. It is hard to believe that many, even the most ardent of Gov. Laffoon's supporters, would string along with him on such a proposition as that.

A special session, however, remains a very real possibility. As remarked before, hardly any major legislation has been enacted. The chief revenue bills, such as the income tax, the sales tax, and the various selective taxes, have not been acted on by either house. The important fiscal code has yet to be considered. Neither branch has taken any action on the child-labor amendment, or on liquor control. County reorganization bills, for the most part, have not been disposed of by either house. The budget bill, at the very least, will require five days for passage. And there are hundreds of lesser bills, the pets and special projects of various legislators, which are certain to be brought up and to slow down the legislative process.

Fifteen more days. They may be full of sound and fury, and possibly of action. But if all necessary business is to be transacted, the 1934 general assembly will have to break all previous records for speed.—Lexington Leader.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, at a mass meeting of about one hundred citizens and taxpayers of Morgan county held at the courthouse in West Liberty on Saturday morning, February 24, 1934, the matter of borrowing money from the federal government for the purpose of building a modern school building in West Liberty was thoroughly discussed, and

Whereas, it was reported that a modern and adequate building could be erected for approximately $53,000 and that said money could be borrowed from the federal government at 4 percent interest and that we would receive a grant of 30 percent of that amount from the government and that we would have twenty years in which to pay the balance, and

Whereas, those assembled in said meeting were unanimously in favor of taking advantage of this opportunity to build a school building and appointing this committee to draft resolutions endorsing the borrowing of said money as herein set forth, now therefore

Be it resolved that we do heartily endorse and favor the borrowing from the federal government of sufficient money to build a modern school building in West Liberty and we do hereby respectfully request our board of education to take the necessary action immediately to secure said loan for the purpose of building said building, and

Be it further resolved that another mass meeting be held at the courthouse at West Liberty on Saturday morning of March 3, 1934, at 10 o'clock a.m., to further discuss said matter, and the Morgan county board of education is requested to call a meeting at that time and meet with the citizens and taxpayers and be prepared to take official action in the matter, and

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Licking Valley Courier and a copy be sent to Superintendent James W. Davis to be presented to the board of education.

This the 24th day of February, 1934.
FLOYD ARNETT, chairman.

"DEBT CERTIFICATES" GROW

The old saw about its being the woman who pays needs to be modified. The one who pays and pays today is the taxpayer, male and female.

According to the United States News, every American citizen—man, woman, and child—at the close of 1932, had been obligated with a tax debt of $314.22 by the various units of government managing public affairs. This tax burden is growing at an alarming rate and in another year the interest bill alone will probably be about $2,000,000,000 annually.

The sources of tax money are limited. It must come out of earnings of business and individuals—out of capital and wages. Already fear of confiscation of property and earnings thru taxation is driving money into tax-free government bonds and preventing investments and developments that would create more jobs, larger payrolls, and greater income.

The people should get this idea clearly into their heads: Every tax dollar expended is a dollar taken from the earnings of private citizens and private industries.

Don't be misled by the idea that government money is any different from your money. It is your money. You are the government. The government has no source of securing revenue except from you. Every last penny of government expenditures is raised by taxation; it comes out of your pocket either in direct taxes or thru indirect taxes collected in higher prices for food, clothing, rent, fuel, tobacco, amusements, and everything you eat, wear, or enjoy.

Every family of four, at the close of 1932, owed $1,256.88 on government promises to pay—"debt certificates" drawing interest.

Are you interested in government—taxation—jobs—bread and butter? Think it over!

Tax Payment Time Extended

On February 28 the governor of Kentucky by executive order extended the time for payment of state and county taxes to and including March 31, 1934. Taxes are therefore payable all during March without any penalty. Sheriffs must settle for their tax duplicates by a certain time, says the governor, so no further time extension can be made.

Want New School

MASS MEETING FOR SCHOOL

At a meeting Saturday morning, February 24, at the courthouse, to discuss borrowing money from the government to build a new schoolhouse in West Liberty, Judge W. A. Caskey was appointed chairman and Mrs. J. Blaine Nickell was elected secretary.

Miss Josephine McGuire presented to the group a few facts concerning the present condition of the old building and the inadequacy at the present time. She then informed them that it would not be necessary to issue bonds to get the loan. The loan would amount to approximately $53,000, of which 30 percent would be donated by the government, the rest to be borrowed at 4 percent interest for a period of 20 to 25 years. Nothing would have to be paid on the principal for the first three years. Or a building could be built for approximately $18,000 without an auditorium, that to be added later.

Floyd Arnett spoke stressing the fact that in four or five years the present building would be condemned and the county would be forced to build a new one by extra taxation, with no help from the outside, and asked for the citizens of the county to back the project.

Professor Carpenter said that it was not a question of how long the old building would last, but its present danger, and that the money could be borrowed from the government cheaper than any other place.

Henry Rose suggested that this loan could be paid back by setting aside 5 cents out of the present tax, which is 75 cents, forming a sinking fund. This would amount to about $2200 a year, and the entire debt could be retired in 20 years, with no extra tax.

Mrs. F. S. Brown, Dorsey Keeton, J. P. Oney, Miss Florence McGuire, Floyd Craft, and Sam Spencer each spoke endorsing the movement.

Mr. Benton said that the school board had been informed that bonds must be voted before the loan could be procured and Miss McGuire explained that the government would not require that if the state legislature would provide that that was not necessary and that there is now pending a bill in the legislature which would empower the county board of education to take the necessary steps to procure the money without bonds being voted.

A motion was made by Mr. Arnett and seconded by Mr. Nickell that the meeting adopt resolutions asking the school board to take action on the matter. Motion carried.

Chairman Caskey appointed Floyd Arnett, Professor Carpenter, and J. P. Oney as a committee to draw up the resolutions.

Blaine Nickell made a motion that another mass meeting be held on next Saturday at 10 o'clock a.m., and that the school board be invited to be present, together with an architect, to discuss the question further. Motion seconded by Henry Rose, and carried.

Meeting adjourned.

MRS. J. BLAINE NICKELL.

IN WINTER'S GRIP

Winter came to Kentucky in a rush over the week end. Snow began falling in the west end of the state on Friday evening and moved eastward over the state and 12 Saturday evening the whole state was covered with a blanket of snow. Snow continued to fall intermittently until Monday morning. Part of the time the precipitation was in the form of rain or sleet. The temperature dropped with the snow so that by Monday morning the thermometer here registered 16 degrees below zero. The temperature varied in different sections of the state, ranging from zero to about 20 degrees below. The snow blanket varied from about 3 inches along the western border to about 16 inches in the mountain section.

All traffic was slowed up and in many sections was at a standstill. The Greyhound buses ran from one to six hours behind schedule thru Morgan county, but missed no trips. Automobile driving was extremely difficult and dangerous, but there were only a few minor accidents. In some sections fruit and shade trees were badly broken by the weight of the ice which formed on the limbs.

The moisture which is locked up in the snow and sleet and the covering it is affording grain and grass fields are a real blessing.

At the time of going to press the temperature is rising and there are indications of rain.

BOB JONES' COMMENTS

Several years ago the famous Dr. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., spoke to the students of the Bob Jones college. It was a most interesting address. "I have seen many people die," said Dr. Mayo, "and I have heard more dying people quote the twenty-third Psalm than any other literature." I do not remember anything else that Dr. Mayo said and I am sure that most of the students and faculty have forgotten practically all he said. However, every student and every member of the faculty sat with open ears and listened to Dr. Mayo speak. The reason was, Dr. Mayo is a great authority. He spoke with the voice of authority.

When Jesus Christ was on earth the young people heard him gladly because he spoke with authority. People always listen to the man who has an authoritative message. The trouble with the pulpits is this: The note of authority has largely gone out of the ministry. The world is too busy to listen to a man who doesn't know what he is talking about.

I heard a great preacher say recently, "One real fact is better than a dozen theories." It is a good idea to start with something we know. Some of us know that one time we met Jesus Christ. We don't know just how He did it, but He changed our lives. We began to love things that we used to hate and we began to hate things we used to love. We know that whereas we were once blind, we now see.

I am dictating in my office at the Bob Jones college in Cleveland, Tennessee. We have in our college a very bright boy who has been sick for several days. He receives every attention and there is nothing seriously the matter with the boy. I just note his mother coming across the campus walking hurriedly toward the college. When children are sick mothers have a feeling that they know just what to do and nobody can do anything as well as they can.

Nowhere in the Bible do I find a command for mothers to love their children. I think I know why. God, who made mothers and understands a mother's heart, knows it isn't necessary to tell a normal mother to love her child. If she is a normal mother she will love her child. I can find no command in the Bible for men to pray to be saved. But if they are saved, they will pray. I can find commands to repent, to believe, to obey the gospel, etc., but no command to pray to be saved. I think I know the reason for this. God, who made the human heart, knew it was not necessary to tell penitent men to pray. When we have a troubled conscience, when we know that God loved us and Jesus died for us and has saved us, it is as natural for men to pray as it is for birds to sing, and as it is for a flower to bloom. God just made us that way.

Feed Colts Well in Cold Weather

Grain, Supplemented With Clover or Alfalfa Hay, Is Good Plan.

By Prof. M. W. Harper, New York State College of Agriculture—WNU Service.
Feed colts well during winter; what is saved in feed is sacrificed in many times in the final usefulness of the horse.

During the first and second winter colts should be fed grain twice a day—in the morning and in the evening. A good grain mixture for draft colts consists of 30 pounds of crushed oats, 30 pounds of wheat bran, 30 pounds of cracked corn, and 10 pounds linseed oil meal. This should be supplemented with properly cured clover or alfalfa hay.

For colts of the light breeds, such as trotters and saddlers, cracked corn should be limited and mixed hay or early-cut, properly cured timothy is probably better than legume hay. The grain mixture should be liberally fed, the proper amount to be determined by the need of the individual colt.

In addition to grain and hay, sheaf oats will prove beneficial. Placing a supply of roughage in a covered rack in the exercise lot is a good plan. Ice and snow are poor substitutes for drinking water.

Young horses may be expected to thrive when they are bountifully nurtured with proper grain and forage and are given facilities for exercise.

Newly Born Calves Must Be Given Special Care

During the winter time, newly born calves should be kept away from drafts in the stable in order to avoid colds and pneumonia, warns a writer in the Prairie Farmer. Leaving the calf with its mother during the colostrum period, which is about four days, will make it more resistant to sickness. After the period with the mother, the calf may be fed from a bucket, three or four times a day for a few days, and then twice a day as the calf grows older.

With a bucket-fed calf the greatest cause of digestive disturbances is irregularity in amount of milk, time of feeding and temperature of the milk—that is, outside of drafts and dirty milk buckets.

After four or five weeks the calf may be changed from whole milk to skim-milk, taking about seven days to make the change. Good quality legume hay and a grain mixture of coarsely ground corn and oats, with some bran and oilmeal added, should be placed before the calf. It will learn to eat in a very short time. Fresh water and salt should be accessible at all times. Milk may be discontinued at the age of six months.

Locate Ice Houses and Pits on the Hillside

Where natural ice may be harvested economically and easily, farmers in locating ice houses and ice pits can often take advantage of hills, trees or buildings which afford protection against hot winds and direct sunlight, and thus reduce melting losses, says John T. Bowen of the bureau of agricultural engineering, United States Department of Agriculture. To facilitate drainage the ground should be porous and slope from the building.

On a dairy farm, a vestibule and cooling room are desirable features of the ice house, which should be convenient to the dairy house. On a general farm, the ice house should be convenient to the residence.

Small houses on farms using natural ice can be used to store a season's supply for household purposes, and on farms using manufactured ice to store a supply sufficient to save frequent trips to the ice plant.

Cutting Alfalfa

At Iowa State college it has been found that where alfalfa hay is secured in that state from two cuttings than from three. To allow the hay to become so mature, however, increases the amount of "leaf" lost, which in turn reduces the number of leaves left on plants when they are cut. For this reason two cuttings usually will not provide the best quality hay. The best time to cut alfalfa is when it is one-fourth to one-third in bloom. Four cuttings a year will usually kill the stand in two years.

Humus and Disease

Gardeners are urged to conserve humus as much as possible, and this is good advice as regards healthy plant tissue. Diseased crop remnants, however, are a danger and should be destroyed. The safest plan is to burn such refuse and thus prevent the carryover of disease. Burning is also helpful in destroying insect pests that hibernate in such material. The ashes make a good garden dressing, especially for roses.

Figures for It

During the year 1932, the bureau of agricultural economics learns, 6,383 farmers, operating their own farms, had an average of $257 cash income over cash expenses, but from this had to pay living expenses and interest charges. Cash sales amounted to $1,914, cash outlays for labor, livestock, feed, seed, fertilizer, machinery, taxes and the like amounted to $757. The farmers used from their farms foods amounting to $161 at farm prices.

Two Useful Fruits

EVERYBODY likes grapefruit, and everybody likes pineapple, but have you ever thought of combining these two useful fruits in recipes which should thus be doubly appealing to the palate? If you haven't, here are some which will show you how to do it.

Pineapple and Grapefruit Shortcake: Boil three-fourths cup canned pineapple syrup, three-fourths cup canned grapefruit syrup and two tablespoons sugar five minutes. Cool, add two cups diced canned pineapple and two cups canned grapefruit sections and serve on hot, rich baking powder biscuits, split and buttered. This makes enough for eight.

A Combination Salad

Pineapple and Grapefruit Salad with Cheese Dressing: Drain the contents of two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or one and one-half cups diced pineapple), and toss lightly with one cup canned grapefruit sections, one-half cup halved, seeded grapes. Pile in lettuce leaves and pour over the following cheese dressing. Serves eight.

Cheese Dressing:

Shake together in six tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon pineapple syrup, one salt and paprika to taste. Smooth slowly into four tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese, and add two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

A Cocktail for March 17

Emerald Isle Cocktail: Combine the syrup from a No. 2 can of Hawaiian sliced pineapple and a No. 2 can of grapefruit, sweeten slightly if desired with confectioner's sugar, add one-half teaspoon almond flavoring, and tint a delicate green with vegetable coloring. Cut the pineapple slices in quarters, and distribute with the grapefruit sections among eight glasses. Pour over the syrup, and chill. Serves eight.

Are YOU HAPPY After Meals

Or Do Gas on Stomach and Sour Stomach make you Miserable?

Too much food, or the wrong kind of food, too much smoking, too much beer, make your body over-acid. Then you have distress after eating, gas on stomach, heartburn, sour stomach.

ALKA - SELTZER relieves these troubles promptly, effectively, harmlessly.

Use Alka-Seltzer for Headache, Colds, Fatigue, Morning After Feeling, Muscular, Sciatic and Rheumatic Pains.

Alka-Seltzer makes a sparkling alkaline drink. As it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

Alka-Seltzer tastes like carbonated mineral spring water—works like magic. Contains no dangerous drugs....does not depress the heart....is not laxative.

Get a drink at your Drug Store Soda Fountain. Keep a package in your home medicine cabinet.

Indispensable DJER-KISS TALCUM

Well-groomed women and men know the daily use of a fine Talcum all the way down to their toes is as indispensable as bathing. And all the world knows Djer-Kiss is foremost among all tal-sizes to sell at reasonable prices. Now is the time to buy Ohio farms. Write G. B. Lohr, 103 1/2 N. Main st., Washington, C.H., Ohio. (adv.)

The outside world judges a town's business largely by the local newspaper. No business place can afford to let a single issue of the paper go out without being in some way represented in that paper.

A boy who does not like the snow any too well took his dog exercising thru the house, with the result that a large window glass had to be replaced while supper waited, to prevent the family from freezing.

The town board of trustees at its

FRALEY

James Ellihu Fraley was born September 29, 1896, and died Jan. 23, 1934.
He was converted in early manhood and became a prominent exponent of the cause of his Master. As a citizen his influence was always on the side of right, and for the upbuilding of his community.

He leaves a widow, Missouri Fraley, and the following children: Charles of Morehead, Archie, Addie, and Ralph and Mrs. A. S. Gibson of Fannin, William and Mrs. H. F. Skaggs of Ashland, Ray of Triplett, and Vester of Prestonsburg. A sister, five brothers, and twentytwo grandchildren also

PROLIFIC PEACHES

HAVE you ever considered as a housewife how prolific are peaches of dainty dishes? You can make pies with them, puddings, fruit combinations, ice cream, pickles, candy, cakes and cake fillings, salads and even soup. The more you think of it, the more prolific peaches become of a variety of delicious recipes with which to regale your family and friends.

But that's merely an assertion. Here's something to back it up—tested recipes for many of the uses mentioned above.

A Pie and a Pudding

Peach Pie with Whole Wheat Crusts: Drain the sliced peaches from a No. 2½ can, and lay them evenly in a pie tin lined with whole wheat pastry. Mix one-half cup sugar with four tablespoons white flour, and sprinkle over. Dot with two tablespoons butter, and pour over two-thirds of a cup of the peach syrup. Cover with upper crust, and bake in a hot oven—425 to 450 degrees—for thirty minutes. This cuts into six or eight pieces.

Peach oatmeal pudding: Drain the peach halves from a No. 2 can and arrange them in the bottom of a buttered round or square cake tin. Sprinkle over four tablespoons brown sugar and some cinnamon. Cream four tablespoons butter, add one-half cup brown sugar, cream again, and add one well-beaten egg. Add one-half cup milk alternately with one-half cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, and one-fourth teaspoon salt, sifted together and added to one-half cup quick-cooking oatmeal. Add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Pour this batter over the peaches and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for about thirty minutes. Serve hot or cold with thin cream. Delicious! Serves eight.

A Fruit Dish and Ice Cream

Peach Celestial: Scald four cups milk, reserving one-half cup to mix with eight tablespoons cornstarch, one-half cup sugar and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add and stir until thick and creamy. Cover and cook twenty minutes. Add one teaspoon lemon flavoring and one teaspoon orange flavoring, and pour out onto a flat serving dish, cover top with canned peach halves, and chill. Sprinkle with moist canned coconut over entire top. In serving take up a peach with each serving. Serves eight.

Peach and Macaroon Ice Cream: Press peaches from a No. 1 can through a sieve, add two-thirds cup sugar and three cups thin cream, and freeze to a mush. Add two-thirds cup macaroon crumbs and continue freezing. Serve flanked by two small meringue glacés. Serves eight to ten.

Pickles and Candy

Peach and Pineapple Conserve: Mix together the contents of a No. 2 can of peaches, a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple, one cup seedless raisins, one and one-half cups brown sugar, and the juice and grated rind of four lemons. The peaches should be finely cut.

Cook gently until thick, adding one cup chopped walnuts ten minutes before done. Pour into jelly glasses or jars. Makes about three pints.

Peach Jelly Cubes: Press the contents of an 8-ounce can of peaches through a sieve, making a puree. Add one-half cup pectin, syrup, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup corn syrup and one tablespoon lemon juice, and boil till thermometer registers 222 degrees. Pour into greased pans so that mixture is about one-half inch thick, and let cool. Let stand overnight in a cold place. Cut in cubes and roll in powdered sugar. You may also dip this in chocolate or in melted fondant if you prefer.

A Salad and a Soup

Peach and Cottage Cheese Salad: On a large chop plate or salad plate arrange the required number of individual lettuce nests. In each one place a well-chilled canned peach half, cut side up. Pile cottage cheese lightly in the center of each peach half, and garnish with preserved grapes or maraschino cherries and mayonnaise.

Sparkling Ginger Bouillon: Smooth together one teaspoon cornstarch and one tablespoon cold water, and add to the syrup from a quart can of peaches, the juice of half a lemon and one teaspoon sugar. Cook until slightly thickened. Chill. Just before serving, combine with one pint cold ginger ale, and serve at once. Serves eight.
